IRA: IT MUST BE SHOOT TO KILL!

by Steve Brady

BRITISH POLICEMEN ARE to face possible disciplinary charges for fighting IRA terrorists. This incredible announcement was made by the Government on February 17th.

Brave Officers of the Royal Ulster Constabulary, who have risked their lives and those of their families day in day out for years in the fight against the Communist IRA murder gang, are to be rewarded by being offered up on a plate to appease the Dublin Government.

The crime of the Ulster policemen? Taking firm, decisive and necessary action against notorious IRA and INLA gunmen.

In 1982, in the bandit country of County Armagh, the Ulster police ran to earth five notorious terrorist murderers, whose IRA or INLA membership is not in dispute. They also caught a Republican youth actually in possession of three military rifles. Without waiting to be gunned down first, according to the letter of regulations, the policemen in each case opened fire, relieving the world of the killers in question.

Most reasonable people will agree with Lord Justice Sir Maurice Gibson, himself to be brutally murdered together with his wife, by the IRA, when he congratulated the officers involved for sending the terrorists "to the final Court of Justice".

Before they were summarily despatched, it is estimated that the five IRA killers were responsible for an incredible 222 murders between them. How many more innocent lives did the RUC men's swift shooting save?

The courage of these policemen was rewarded by having to face no less than three 'inquiries' into their actions, including the threat of a murder charge. The most ludicrous was the blundering intervention of John Stalker, Assistant Chief Constable of Greater Manchester, whose ideas of policing were clearly far more appropriate to Dixon of Dock Green than men who have seen 252 of their RUC colleagues brutally butchered and who daily walk the bloodstained battlefield of terrorist war.

Now, with the IRA and its Dublin and Labour Party backers whining about a 'shoot to kill' policy and Thatcher desperate to prop up her crumbling Anglo-Irish Agreement' we are to have another English senior police officer pillorying the Ulster policemen. This time one Charles Kelly, whose very surname will raise the hackles among British Ulstermen, Chief Constable of the bandit country of Staffordshire.

This is just the latest Westminster knife plunged into the back of Ulster's Police, the front-line soldiers in Britain's war against IRA terrorism.

Stalker: blundering intervention

At the start of the present IRA campaign, twenty years ago, Westminster all but disarmed the Ulster Police and removed the local citizen's militia Special Constabulary. If this had not been done, the Ulster police could have crushed this IRA terror campaign as they crushed those in 1920-22, 1935 and 1956-62, without a single mainland soldier losing his life. Today they force the RUC to do the dirty work of ramming the hated, treasonable 'Anglo-Irish Agreement' down the throat of the Britons of Ulster. Pitting them against their own friends, family and neighbours. And when they do actually fight the IRA, they face inquiry after inquiry until they have no idea where they stand.

The whole thing is a disgrace. Ulster's police have earned better, and earned it in blood.

The National Front demands that harassment of police for fighting terrorism cease forthwith. The officers smeared in Stalker's book should be compensated for their distress, and their heroic deeds commemorated by due gallantry awards.

And as for 'shoot to kill', if it wasn't security forces policy in 1982, then it damned well ought to be in 1988.

From Birmingham to Belfast, from Guildford to Enniskillen, the memory two thousand British men, women and children butchered by the IRA demand no less. Those IRA terrorists in custody should face the rope. Those at large, the bullet. It is time, no it is past time, to kill the killers.

● The life of an innocent member of the public has been brutally terminated by the IRA. There is only one way to deal with the IRA butchers - SHOOT TO KILL.

BBC SINKS TO THE DEPTHS

A DISGUSTING Asian sexual technique manual is to be read over BBC Radio York for six Sundays during February and March.

The programme presenter, the not-so-British Chris Choi, said the book, Karma Sutra, is much misunderstood. "It just gets to grips with sex and drugs and what makes people tick".

Choi, who will be discussing the book on the air with BBC ethnic advisers admitted the book is candid about sexual techniques.

Churchmen in Yorkshire are not happy about the programme. The Reverend Robert Simpson, vicar of Bempton, near Bridlington, said, "We live in an immoral society in many ways, and this sort of thing should not be broadcast, it is especially not suitable for the Lord's Day".

DEWSBURY VETOS MANDELA

THE PEOPLE of Dewsbury took their local council to court to stop them re-naming Railway Street and Rishworth Road in the town after African terrorist Nelson Mandela.

And Chairman of the Bench, Kenneth Sowden agreed that to name the street Mandela Way was inappropriate. He said the Labour-controlled council should remember the mill town's heritage when deciding street names.

Labour Councillors labelled the residents 'racist' because they had argued that naming the street after Nelson Mandela would deter industrialists from coming to the region. What could they mean?

PATRIOTS FACE THE SACK!

LIVERPOOL'S COUNCIL leader Kevan Coombes warned patriotic council workers that they face the sack to make way for black people.

He said that 2,000 jobs were to be created especially for the city's ethnic population.

11% RISE IN IMPORTS

BRITAIN'S BALANCE of payments turned in its worst performance for 13 years in 1987 because a record amount of foreign made goods were imported into the country.

December saw a deficit of £582 million bringing the year's total to £2.69 billion. Imports rose a massive 11% last year.

INSIST

This 'Trade Gap' will force the Chancellor to put up interest rates, thereby penalising homeowners and young families trying desperately to secure their own home in the ever-spiralling property market.

A National Front Government would insist that all manufactured goods bought in Britain are be made in Britain, in British factories by British workers. Such a policy would revitalise our industrial base and create jobs for the unemployed.

● Protectionism: It would curtail the power of the bankers while taking British people off the dole queue into jobs.

THE BANKS IMPOSE SHACKLES AGAIN

AT THE end of last year the finance ministers of the seven main industrial nations issued a statement in a desperate attempt to calm the see-sawing stock exchanges of the world. Most of their statement is concerned with financial technicalities, however Item 6. of their statement is of some interest:-

"The ministers and governors strongly rejected protectionist measures as a means of dealing with present imbalances. Protectionism constitutes a direct and serious danger to world prosperity and equilibrium and would have harmful consequences for those countries which resort to it. They re-affirmed their determination to fight protectionism and to promote an open world trading system".

That middle sentence is an admission that some countries are seriously considering adopting protectionist measures to escape from the international financial extortion racket. It is also a direct threat that any country that adopts such measures will be harassed by this Group of Seven.

Yet what is wrong with protectionism - after all it simply means that each country would become as self-sufficient as possible. With Britain currently importing millions of pounds worth of manufactured goods each month it would also mean a drop in the number of jobless.

There is nothing wrong with protectionism. Quite simply, ordinary working people would gain, and the power of the international banking community would be curtailed. That is why the banks and their puppets will always fight protectionism and no government in the West has the guts to stand up to them - not yet anyway.

BOYCOTT THE PROTON

● British car workers: Losing jobs because of foreign car imports.

BRITAIN'S POOR beleaguered car industry faces a further challenge as the Government opens the door to cars from yet another Third World/Slave Labour country.

January 1989 will see on garage forecourts beside, Ibizas from Spain, Hyundais from Korea, Ladas from Russia, Skodas from Czechoslovakia and Yugos from Yugoslavia, . . . the Proton from Malaya.

Made with a Japanese engine and gearbox and based on a five year-old model by Mitsubishi, Proton sales are expected to reach 5,000 in its first year. How many British car workers will be forced into the dole queues because of Proton?

None if the British public have any sense and boycott the cars when they arrive in Britain.

LABOUR MP AT IRA WEDDING

JEREMY CORBYN, the Islington Labour MP was an honoured guest at the wedding of a convicted IRA murderer on February 12th.

The ceremony took place at HM Maximum Security Prison Long Lartin, Worcestershire, and the groom was Paul Hill, serving no less than nine life sentences for the IRA pub bombings in Guildford and Woolwich.

No doubt Corbyn was most welcome. This Labour MP has, after all, been leading a campaign to free Hill, who in the mid-1970s blew a number of ordinary British working men and women to bits and maimed many others for life.The very men and women Labour is supposed to represent.

When the NF gets to power, Mr Corbyn will be a welcome guest at another prison ceremony involving this mass murderer. That ceremony will be a hanging!

BLAKELOCK MURDER

GRANT "NOT SATISFIED"

BERNIE GRANT, Labour MP for Tottenham has called for an examination of the trial of the three men convicted of murdering P.C. Keith Blakelock during the Tottenham riots of 1985.

"I'm not satisfied that the evidence was enough to convict. It needs to be re-opened" he told the reconvened Broadwater Farm Inquiry.

Winston Silcott, Mark Braithwaite and Engin Raghip were given life sentences last year for hacking PC Blakelock to death.

GIFFORD VISITS THE MURDERERS

LABOUR PEER, Lord Gifford, visited the three men serving life for the murder of Keith Blakelock to get evidence for the Haringey Council-financed, reconvened inquiry into the Tottenham riots.

He said that because of intense concern expressed during the inquiry about the convictions the panel had decided it would be right to see the three men.

Had the National Front been in power the murderers would have been strung up by now and people like Gifford would be unable to open the wounds of grief for the Blakelock family by championing the cause of these butchers.

DOOR TO DOOR PAPER SALES

SOUTH LONDON NF MEMBERS, during the month of February, have shown the way in servicing the biggest door to door sales round of National Front literature ever attempted by a National Front regional organisation.

Visiting homes in Battersea, Wandsworth, and Southwark, NF activists are working 9 hours a week to get the message in The FLAG and Vanguard to NF supporters in those areas.

A special mention for South London Regional Organiser, Dean Thomas, who has organised the sales teams, and to Dave Smith (Croydon) and Barry Murphy (Lambeth) who have been also been helping with general organisation.

TARGET ONE MILLION

60,000 PIECES of recruitment literature were put out by National Front branches during January in the form of leaflets, stickers, posters and mail-outs.

This is a healthy start to the Campaign One Million launched at the Organisers' Conference in January to distribute one million pieces of recruitment literature throughout the country during 1988.

As always Birmingham National Front have led the way, with as many as three leafletting sessions a week, a performance head and shoulders above any other National Front branch!

Rochdale NF silence Livingstone's IRA propaganda!

ROCHDALE NATIONAL FRONT turned out in force to show their disgust at Labour MP Ken Livingstone's support for the IRA.

More than 40 local NF members and supporters turned out to picket Livingstone when he arrived in the town to address Rochdale Communist Party, and he received such a hostile reception from the NF that Police closed the meeting early fearing for the safety of the Labour Party's premier IRA spokesman.

WOUND UP

Local Communist, Heather Malley, told the meeting that because of the National Front demonstration that police had asked for it to be wound up early. "There are many members of the National Front outside" she announced, "They are in all the pubs, just leave the hall quickly, get into you cars and go straight home"

Police reported the NF demonstrators very good humoured and there were no incidents or arrests during the activity.

Congratulations to Rochdale NF on a well-organised demonstration. Every National Front branch should follow their example and oppose IRA appologists such as Livingstone when they condone the murder of British soldiers, policemen and civilians in Ulster.

● Livingstone ponders the point. Once again the NF has stopped his IRA propaganda.

● Rochdale NF setting an example to other NF branches by opposing the traitors of our country every time they show their faces.

LABOUR PANIC OVER FRONT GROWTH

THE GROWTH of the National Front in Birmingham has sent shivers through the local Labour Party, so much so that they have organised a week of action against the National Front in the city.

From Monday March 14th to Saturday March 19th they have organised a series of meetings to drum up support for a campaign against the National Front. The campaign demands:

- No public platform for the National Front
- No National Front members allowed union membership
- Trade Union support for groups working to defeat the National Front.

These demands without a doubt show the true totalitarian face of what a Labour Government would be like.

John Hill, West Midlands Regional Organiser is not a bit worried about the campaign. He told The FLAG, "For the last year we have been consistently getting our message across to the people of Birmingham. This month has seen the highest number of inquiries from people wishing to join the National Front that the branch has ever known."

PROGRESS IN HERTS & BEDS

THE GROWTH OF the National Front continues apace in Hertfordshire and Bedfordshire.

Last month we reported on Hemel Hempstead establishing their own mailing address for the branch in the town and now this month Leighton Buzzard have announced theirs. The branch can be contacted at P.O.Box 189, Leighton Buzzard, Beds LU7 7YS. Local organiser, John McSweeney, reports steady interest in the NF around the area and the relaunching of the local NF newspaper The Bedfordshire Patriot.

St Albans Organiser, Jim Archer, has launched a leaflet and poster campaign in his area and told The FLAG that he is confident of a growth in membership over the next few months.

POLICE DENY FRONT LINK

ON FRIDAY February 5th, the Daily Mail carried a story 'Dawn swoop in blitz on soccer gangs'. In the story on the arrests of soccer thugs in Manchester, reporter Geoff Sutton claimed "And detectives are investigating worrying links between the thugs and the National Front".

On Monday 8th February the National Front press office rang the Greater Manchester Police and spoke to their Press Secretary with regard to the report in the Daily Mail.

The Secretary was totally at a loss as where the journalist got his information from.

She said:

- Five press statements were issued during the day and none of these mentioned the National Front.
- There was no press conference for journalists to interview the detectives in charge of the investigation.
- No dectectives spoke to journalists. All information concerning the case was released by the GMP Press Office.
- No information whatsoever had been received by the press office concerning any involvement of the NF in the police investigations.

So Sutton's allegations didn't come from the Police. Did he make them up to add a bit of spice to the story, or is it another calculated attempt by the media to smear the National Front?

NF VIEWPOINT

BOB JONES, a member of Birmingham National Front, was interviewed on the local radio station, BRMB, on February 17th with regard to the NF attitude to the trial of the Birmingham Pub bombers and Ulster policy in general.

The Front's ideas interested those producing the programme and Bob was on the air fifteen minutes informing the people of Birmingham on the details of the National Front's commitment to maintain, at any cost, Ulster as part of Britain.

WORDS OF WISDOM

THERE ARE some words that are too seldom used on National Front activities and they are of the greatest importance. Those words are: DISCIPLINE, DETERMINATION and COMMITMENT.

Without discipline, there is no unity and there is certainly no victory without unity. Once we have achieved those two, we then can have determination and commitment to our cause.

Discipline is the guarantee of success for it ensures the unity of effort. There is no victory without unity and there is no unity without discipline.

Tony Stewart, Literature Officer, Leeds National Front, writing in the February members' bulletin.

IAN HALL records the day's events of Saturday 30th January as the NF opposed the IRA 'Bloody Sunday' march through the London borough of Islington.

IRON LADY MELTS INTO AN EEC BUTTER MOUNTAIN

by Steve Brady

MRS THATCHER SOLD the British people down the river at the Common Market summit in Brussels on February 11th. After much of her usual tough talk about standing up to the French and putting a stop to the Common Agricultural Policy racket, the Iron Lady melted into yet another EEC butter mountain and agreed the CAP scam should go on.

This despite the fact that the Treasury officially admitted on February 10th that this Euro-racket was costing every family in Britain £550 a year - over a tenner a week - in higher food prices.

The CAP is a blatantly fraudulent racket in which £19 billion a year - two-thirds of the Common Market total budget, and all paid for by the tax-payer - is given away to farmers to produce mountains of butter, grain and lakes of milk, wine and olive oil which are eventually just thrown away.

The average European farmer gets almost half his income, according to the Treasury, from Euro-subsidies and handouts of one sort or another. Such farmers include French peasants with half an acre of land and overpaid German car workers who keep a cow or a couple of sheep and grow a few vegetables on allotments which they tend at weekends. French and German politicians are scared of losing their votes, so they are all for keeping the CAP gravy train rolling along, especially when Britain pays a disproportionate share of the cost.

In Britain, the Euro-subsidy costs the housewife more without helping the ordinary farmer. He finds the Euro-cash swallowed up in interest repayments, fertiliser and feedstuff costs. So he either hacks down even more woods and hedgerows, drains more wetlands and ploughs up even more downland in order to qualify for more Euro-money or he goes bust and sells his land to a merchant bank or investment trust, as more and more farmers are being forced to do so as they are driven off the land.

Meanwhile, the British housewife now pays three times the world going-rate for her bread and butter. And the Common Market, handing out money right left and centre, sinks ever deeper into debt. By June it will be bankrupt to the tune of £24 billion.

Maggie went to Brussels determined, she said, to put a stop to all that. But of course she didn't. Instead, in the face of deceit and obscene four-letter abuse bellowed by French Prime Minister Chirac, Thatcher backed down. The Common Market is to pay subsidies on even more grain production - a staggering 160 million tonnes (half a ton for every man, woman, and child in the EEC). Even bigger handouts are to be given to more backward and primitive EEC members like Spain, Greece and the Irish Republic.

Agreement on subsidies for olive oil, wine and tobacco (of which British farmers don't see a penny) and the notorious sheepmeat (which includes the stringy carcasses of Spanish and Greek goats which no Briton would knowingly touch) regime were simply fudged in the face of French greed. And Muggins - the British taxpayer - is to fork out even more to pay for it all, at the same time as he, or she, is shelling out treble the price for a loaf of Euro-subsidised bread.

Labour MPs of course had a go at Mrs Thatcher over the debacle. "She has surrendered" crowed George Robinson, Labour's chief spokesman on Europe, forgetting that when last in power a Labour Government ratted on its manifesto commitment to get Britain out of the EEC.

HUMILIATION

Even Thatcher's own Tories were disgusted. Teddy Taylor MP called her Brussels agreement "Little short of a disaster and humiliation". Sir Richard Body, of the Tory backbench European Reform Group went further, "There must come a time when a British Prime Minister will have to say a quiet Nó, enough is enough. If the Community then collapses, that will be too bad".

The Tories got Britain into the EEC and they have no intention of getting us out. We just sink deeper and deeper into a morass of subsidies, bureaucratic regulations (Brussels wants to abolish the British pint and mile by 1992). We see higher food prices, Eurocratic corruption, and squalid bickering over money between nations who should stand, sovereign but side by side, in defence of a common cultural and racial heritage.

All this is exactly what we said would happen before we joined the Common Market in 1973. We were the only party to campaign unitedly and wholeheartedly against British membership of the EEC, as we have done for 21 years.

One of the first acts of an NF Government will be to withdraw Britain unilaterally from the EEC. We will, in general, replace subsidies to our farmers with import contols on food we can produce economically our selves, which will cost the taxpayer nothing. And we will help the small farmer and housewife, not the Eurocrat and the City agri-business shark.

It's time the British people stopped being fleeced and having Euro-wool pulled over their eyes by the British Parliamentishment. The National Front says "Set Britain free from the EEC".

Food Destroyed to keep prices high!

THE COMMON Market last year destroyed nearly two and a half million tonnes of fruit and vegetables in order to keep prices high.

According to the EEC Commission's official agricultural statistics for 1987, millions of tonnes of apples, oranges, cauliflowers, tomatoes, lemons, peaches, grapes and other fruit and vegetables were made unfit to eat by pouring oil all over them or ploughing them into the dirt.

The food is destroyed rather than allowing housewives to buy it more cheaply than in the shops, because expensive food is official Common Market policy. The rate of EEC food waste is equivalent to throwing away 187lbs of fruit and veg every second of every day for a whole year!

■ The British housewife pays three times the going rate for her bread and butter thanks to the Common Market.

■ EEC Grain Mountain: To be increased by another 160 million tonnes.

Activity is the key to success

ON SATURDAY January 30th The Guardian carried quite a detailed report on the current state of affairs in the National Front. The same day the early evening news on BBC 2 carried the story and pictures from a National Front demonstration that afternoon. The following Sunday a picture of the National Front demonstration was on the front page of the Sunday Telegraph while there were also reports in the Sunday Times, Sunday Mirror and Observer.

The reason for this very welcome publicity for the National Front was our opposition to an IRA march through North London. A well organised and successful political activity designed to gain publicity for the party and to get our policy on Ulster over to the British people. On both counts the day was a total success.

The following weeks saw renewed interest in the National Front, primarily from members of the public who had seen our demo on television and secondly from the media who after reporting the NF back in the political arena were keen to find out our policies on a range of other topics.

Another succession of articles followed with the NF being covered in all kinds of publications from the weekly give-away advertiser in Cambridge to the New Stateman and Times Educational Supplement, all of them keen to hear the National Front viewpoint.

Publicity, publicity examining and commenting on our political policies, is the key to the growth and success of the National Front. Publicity only comes from creating interest in what you have to say, drawing attention to your politics and to where you stand, and there was no better demonstration of how to create interest than our anti-IRA demonstration.

The National Front needs to be in the public eye all of the time. It's not possible to organise interest-creating activities every weekend so National Front branches must draw attention to themselves by other means. Creating interest in our policies by other methods to make sure their local papers and local public focus their attention on what the National Front has to say.

Leafletting with NF leaflets concentrating on specific local issues is the best activity any branch can organise, and making sure your local papers have copies of the leaflets and a press statement telling them where you are putting them out. It's a simple, cheap, enjoyable and rewarding activity with results that can astound you. If you've any doubts ask the committee of Birmingham NF their local leaflets are returning up to twenty applications for membership a month.

Political activity is the only road to power for the National Front and political is the key word. The public wants to know about the NF, what it stands for and what it believes in. NF daubed on a wall tells the public nothing, apart from the fact that the perpetrator has little regard for the environment. The way forward is by getting our message over to the public on the doorstep or in the columns of local or national newspapers.

The National Front stands for what the majority of British people believe in. Our job is to make them aware of that fact.

Schools Campaign

MARCH WILL see the launch of the National Front's 1988 schools campaign, and never has a campaign be so needed. The multi-racial, pro-homosexuality and anti-British brainwashing that takes place every day in our schools must be challenged and that is what the NF campaign is designed to do.

With NF speakers visiting schools, policy packs being sent free to sixth forms and a special schools' leaflet being handed out at school gates the National Front is certain to provoke debate amongst Britain's schoolchildren and hopefully establish a NF base in schools throughout the country.

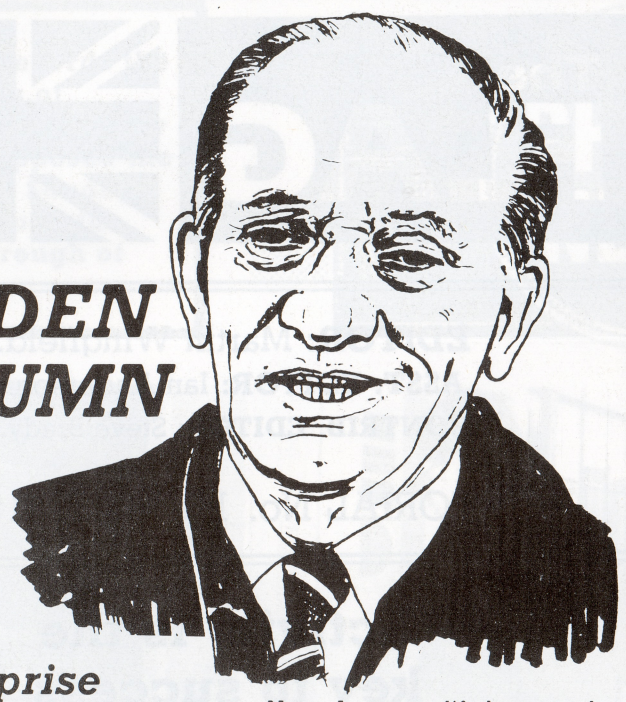
THE TED BUDDEN COLUMN



Surprise Surprise

YOU MAY RECALL that one of the main planks in the election campaigns of the last two Tory Governments has been their commitment to reducing crime. The result has been, naturally, a massive increase in crime.

Being dim Tories, of course, they simply cannot understand why.

At last, however, a glimmer of the truth has penetrated the iron-clad complacency of the Tory hierarchy. As our beloved Home Secretary, super-wimp Douglas Hurd, recently discovered, it is probably all due to Britain's lack of social cohesion.

The trouble is that he expressed this somewhat hesitant opinion on a journey down Mincing Lane to address an assemblage of dog-collared poofs and simpering bleeding hearts of the Church of England, a body as much responsible for the lack of social cohesion as any.

Exactly twenty years ago, I was prosecuted, unsuccessfully, under the Race Relations Act for saying that the importation of millions of alien immigrants, and the issuing of British passports to half the rest, would result in the destruction of Britain's social cohesion and an inevitable increase in crime. I pointed out at the time that the most racially-mixed countries in the world were those with the highest crime rate.

Now, it seems, the Tories are surprised that having imported the jungle to Britain, Britain has become a jungle and that one is likely to be a victim of foodpads in a quiet country town as one was in the worst areas of London before Robert Peel established the police force in 1822.

It would, moreover, be a mistake to attribute this sudden discovery of lack of social cohesion on a surge of acumen within the Hurd cranium. He blames the lack of social cohesion on the parents of Britain's criminal class. Well, in a way so do I. After all, by the way they vote, it is they who decided that Douglas Hurd is the Home Secretary and I'm not!

Down the Drain

FROM NEW Japanese working practises to "old Spanish customs" which, it is alleged by the management of TV-AM, are used by members of ACTT, the TV technicians union, to boost their wages to astronomical levels. The near bankrupt TV-AM company therefore decided to abolish these "old Spanish customs" and institute new working practices.

This in turn provoked Mr. Alan Sapper, the General Secretary of ACTT, to call his members out on strike, where they have remained for the last three months while their highly technical jobs have been fairly successfully performed by management and clerical staff.

Now I am a life-long trade unionist and I do not normally have any sympathy with a company management that bears down hard on its workforce. Nevertheless, I am a trade unionist because I believe in a fair day's pay for a fair day's work and the distinctly Levantine features of Alan Sapper have always seemed to me to represent the unacceptable face of trade unionism, smacking more of protection racketeering than fair play.

For Alan Sapper has always used the somewhat privileged position of the ACTT to make demands that have little to do with the proper function of a trade union and nothing whatever with fair play. It was Alan Sapper, you may recall, who once threatened to "pull the plug" on British TV if the National Front was allowed to make an election broadcast.

Well, times have changed and now Alan Sapper and his merry band of plug pullers are on the outside looking in, faced with the choice of staying there or surrendering unconditionally. As Dorothy Parker once observed, "Time wounds all heels" and the sight of the woebegone expression on the flabby face of Alan Sapper really made my day.

My vote of thanks goes to TV-AM for pulling the plug on Alan Sapper, whatever their motives. If they really want to please me they can finish the job by flushing him down the drain where he belongs.

Buy British

THERE WAS a strike recently at Ford motor plants over the management's desire to introduce Japanese-style working practices. One of the pickets outside the Dagenham plant carried a sign claiming "We're Brits, not Nips".

Oh, really? It turns out that over 40% of the workforce at Dagenham is of West Indian or Asian origin and, indeed, the gibbering and capering of some of the sootier pickets there brought to mind not so much Japanese working practises but old Regents Park practises - like the chimp's tea party.

But that's the way it is. The tag "Made in Britain" definitely does not mean that the article is British made. That fine old British company Marks and Spencers proudly boasts that most of its clothing is made in Britain - which probably means that it is made by Pakistanis in Bradford. A 'British made' high-fi is probably manufactured by an almost entirely Asian workforce in North London.

So the next time any wealthy racial nationalist is thinking of buying a new car and is maybe tossing up between a Ford Baboon or a Ford Chupati, he might first consider that since the Japanese motor plants are situated in the North-East, which is somewhat less immigrant-infested than other parts of the country, the best chance of buying something that is actually British-made is to buy Japanese.

Red Child Molesters Expose Themselves

by Steve Brady

A MARXIST paedophile movement led by a recent former Labour Party candidate has come to light following its attempts to forge links with groups supporting Black youth jailed for rioting in South Africa.

The secretive Left-wing child-sex group is centred round an Edinburgh-based magazine, Minor Problems. Launched in April 1983, Minor Problems editorially 'defends the right of adults to have sex with small children'. In a lengthy ideological analysis spread over several issues, the Red magazine argued that according to Marxist theory paedophilia would be accepted under Socialism.

Minor Problems claims its purpose is to put Paedophile Rights on the dicussion agenda of the radical and alternative Left.

It carries glowing reports on the North American Man/Boy Love Network and the 10,000-strong California-based Rene Guyon Society (Motto: Sex before eight, before it's too late), and advertises books such as How to have Sex with Kids. Minor Problems also carries recruitment adverts for PIE, the notorious Paedophile Information Exchange. PIE in fact funded the first three issues of Minor Problems to the tune of £1,000.

This isn't surprising. The 'Chair' of the nine-strong Minor Problems Collective, who produce the Red perverts' mag is none other than Ian Dunn, who with one Michael Hanson founded PIE in 1974. Ten years later Dunn was adopted by the Labour Party in Edinburgh as a council candidate, though he later stood down when his paedophile activities became known to the voters in his ward. Dunn, 40, is still employed by Edinburgh Labour Council as a planning officer.

Dunn's Minor Problems group, normally very secretive, broke surface when they wrote to the New York-based 'Defence for Children International' expressing solidarity with DCI's support for Black children (mostly adolescent thugs and necklacers) jailed by the Apartheid regime in South Africa".

Of course, when they back queers, lesbians and perverts of every other variety, it's not surprising to find Marxists backing Paedophile Rights. The only question now is when will the first Labour council ban discrimination against child molesters as well as other queers in teaching jobs? And which will appoint its first Paedolphile Rights Officer on the rates?

THE RACE RELATIONS GESTAPO

CHILDREN'S BOOKS BURNED

A PUBLISHER had to burn 100,000 copies of a children's book because the poem Ten Little Nigger Boys was included.

A terrified company director of Peter Haddock Ltd. of Bridlington, North Yorkshire, blamed the inclusion of the poem on printers who had compiled the book from archive material. The Race Relations Gestapo were called to investigate after they had received complaints from members of the sinsister Race Equality Youth. A spokesman for the RRG said "This was a very unfortunate incident"

CERTAIN PASSAGES DELETED

THE RACE Relations Gestapo have insisted on the re-writing of The Story of Dr. Dolittle because certain passages in the book should not be available for public viewing.

The RRG have censored the story of Dr. Dolittle, the character who preferred animals to people, and Prince Bumpo, the black African boy who wanted to be white. Pictures relating to the story showing Africans with bones through their noses gathered around cooking pots have also been removed.

A spokesman for the RRG said "It is necessary to get rid of certain attitudes".

BANNED

OPERA TO BE INVESTIGATED

ALERT MEMBERS of the Race Equality Youth were quick to report Benjamin Britten's Let's Make an Opera to the Race Relations Gestapo.

Investigations are now taking place into ' a possible racial connotation' of its chimney sweep character. His name is Black Bob.

WE ARE NOT AMUSED

BILLBOARDS THROUGHOUT the country advertising Cadbury's Creme Eggs are to have their posters removed by order of the Race Relations Gestapo.

The advert showing an Indian with a Creme Egg turban and the message "Keep another handy, Ghandi" did not amuse the RRG.

Unconfirmed reports say the RRG have ordered members of the Racial Equality Youth not to eat the eggs.

PROMOTION OR ELSE

A WARNING to High Street stores to watch who they do or don not promote to higher management has been issued by the Race Relations Gestapo.

Selfridges of Oxford Street have been instructed to pay £11,000 to Asian Suren Sacher because they failed to promote him. The store had nervously offered Sacher's poor work record as the reason for his lack of success with the firm but this was dismissed by the RRG who accused Selfridges of trying to keep an all-white management.

ARMY UNDER INVESTIGATION

A BLACK soldier, currently court-marshalled and serving 112 day sentence for being absent without leave, has enlisted the help of the Race Relations Gestapo in suing the Army for failing to prevent him suffering racial taunts.

Private S. Anderson, the only black member of the Devon and Dorset Regiment claims he was called a 'black bastard'.

HEADMASTER LABELLED

The Race Relations Gestapo have labelled a headmaster 'stupid, abusive and ignorant' after he claimed that Whites were smarter than Blacks.

Headmaster of a private college in Richmond, Surrey, Carey Palmer said Black youngsters 'were at a less advanced stage of evolution' and second best to White pupils.

Snakebite

A BAND that has been making a name for itself recently, both through its popularity amongst Heavy Rock fans and noteriety amongst the music press, are British Group Whitesnake.

Lead by one time Deep Purple vocalist, David Coverdale, Whitesnake have in the space of the last five years become one of the major influences on the British Heavy Rock scene.

In fact, the bands powerful moody music led by the distinctive style of David Coverdale's vocals and John Sykes lead guitar, make Whitesnake the natural successors to the late, great Led Zepplin.

Their most recent album Whitesnake 87 is a glorious collection of romantic Heavy Rock ballads and songs. The opening track the brilliant Still of the Night has a fine Zepplinesque feel to it and rates as another Whitesnake classic. Other notable tracks on the album include a re-recorded version of Here I go Again, Crying in the Rain and the powerful closing track Children of the Night.

The excellent quality of the songs on Whitesnake 87 were also captured in the bands LIVE British performances in January of this year at the Wembly Arena.

While British fans were busy celebrating the return of Whitesnake, the Red music press were busy slagging them off. One critic in the Daily Mail likened the band's appearance at Wembly as having the atmosphere of a Nuremberg rally!

Whitesnake continue to go from strength to strength. Their distinct form of music is a revelation to those with an ear for British music and re-assuring that Whitesnake will be staying outside the poisonous influence of the five minute wonder Trend Setters and promoters of the disco jungle that make up the current top thirty charts.

BEYOND CAPITALISM AND COMMUNISM

The first complete set of Nationalist economic policies for over 10 years. Just what is distributism? What would the role of the unions be? How practical are NF economic ideas? This book sets out a real alternative to the policies of Capitalism and Communism which both take real power away from the people who create the wealth of a society.

Now the Rivers of Blood
Are swollen by our tears,
This country's been dying
For over thirty years.

Struck down by a cancer
Infected from within,
Those entrusted with power
Yes, they committed the sin.

They betrayed our heritage
Corrupted our proud race,
Brought about the reckoning
That soon we all must face.

For the time is near at hand
When Britain must make its stand,
Must break free from her chains
Let the anger swell in her veins.

Then we will show our country
How She can be proud and free,
We see through liberal lies
And the caring Red disguise.

We will never forget
And we will never forgive,
For the battle that we fight
Is to let Britain live.

Now slowly we reach our people
Finally breaking through,
Rising from their slumber
Starting to see the truth.

Though the State uses prison walls
To silence the Nation's cries,
Ever stronger, thunders the call
Britain Awake! Britain Arise!

AWAKE AND ARISE

FLAG SPORT

Persecution by a Cowardly Red Mob

ON JANUARY 30th a small group of cowardly Reds attempted to halt a cross-country race because Zola Budd was taking part. They ran across her path and tried to physically prevent her from completing the race.

21 year-old Zola said "It didn't put me off, and it was not as bad as Birkenhead. I only saw them the first time".

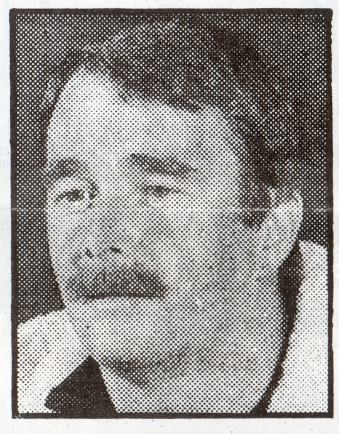
Now we all know that most Reds are a bunch of cowards, but just how low can they sink in victimising one young girl. We should perhaps warn them that some of our younger members have suddenly taken an interest in watching and competing in cross-country running, and they have no intention of allowing a bunch of Reds spoil any more races!

MONKEY NOISES BEFORE MUGGERS

OH DEAR, Glasgow Rangers fans aren't so happy these days since the signing of Mark Walters - a West Indian. Angry Rangers fans have taken to throwing bananas onto the pitch. Anti-racists are demanding arrests but as David Phillips (Secretary of the Chief Police Officers Football Hooligan Committee) said:

"If you've got five policemen looking up at 20,000 fans it's hard to know who is making the (monkey) noises. But we are infiltrating the crowds to find out the key people".

Nice to see our police have got their priorities right! After all its much more important to catch someone making monkey noises than the thugs who are mugging old ladies in Britain's inner-cities!



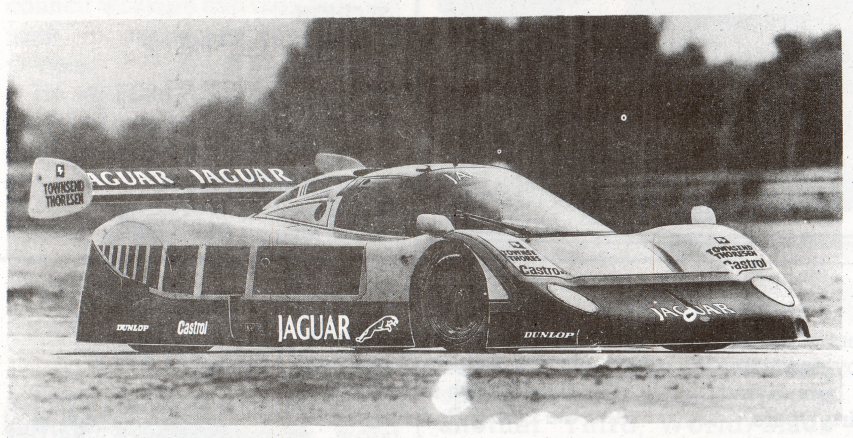
MANSELL FIGHTS BACK

BRITAIN'S LEADING Formula One driver, Nigel Mansell is fit again after three months of extensive therapy to mend injuries received after a crash in Japan.

He hopes to be passed fit for racing by the end of the month and then is off to practice in Spain.

The Grand Prix season opens in Brazil on April 3rd and Mansell, runner-up in the last two title contests will be driving the non-turbo Cannon Williams Judd.

JAGUARS ARE BACK!



ON JANUARY 14th Sir John Egan Chairman of Jaguar Cars, announced the most ambitious racing programme by a British car firm. Jaguar Cars are to enter the World Sports Prototype Championship and the American IMSA Championship for GT and Sports Cars.

Drivers include Britons Martin Brundle, Johnny Dumfries and John Watson. John Nielson from Denmark and Eddie Cheever from America. One of the targets [illegible] cars is to win the elusive Le Mans 24 hour classic.

The FLAG says "Good Luck Jaguar".

 Jaguar Cars roared to victory in the 24-hour Daytona Beach endurance race on 31st January. 1st place to Brundle, Nielsen and Boesel. 3rd place to the Jaguar driven by Watson, Dumfries and Cheever. The West German Porsches were eclipsed by this powerful team.

Well Done Martin!

MARTIN BELL gave British ski-ing its biggest ever boost when he finished eigth in the Winter Olympic's mens downhill in Canada at the end of February.

It was the best performance ever by a British skier. The FLAG congatulates Martin Bell on his great achievement.

CHELTENHAM GOLD CUP

It must be Forgive N' Forget!

LOOK NO further than Forgive N' Forget in the Cheltenham Gold Cup. Jimmy Fitzgerald's top class chaser had a real pipe-opener at Worcester at the beginning of the month and it is top condition for the Cheltenham race.

Mount Parson looks good for the Sun Alliance Chase while Celtic Chief should beat Celtic Shot in the Champion Hurdle.

Watch out for Andy Turnell's runners at Cheltenham they'll all be big prices and worth each-way support. His horses are jumping out of their skins at the moment and he can do little wrong.

DRUGS KILL

MORE AND MORE hard drugs are flooding into Britain from the Far East and Latin America. And corrupt drug pushers are trying to get young kids 'hooked' and dependent on their supplies to increase their profits in this evil trade.

There is only one political party that demands hard and immediate action against the pushers: The National Front.

Don't Let The Pushers Destroy Our Kids!

Drugs by hypodermic - now AIDS makes the danger even greater.

Thousands of British youngsters are facing misery, degradation and death at the hands of drug pushers. But what is the Government doing to counter this threat?

Nothing! Tory cuts have reduced the number of Customs and Excise staff available to fight the tide of foreign drugs flooding into Britain. The police are prevented from cracking down on the distribution networks in inner-city areas because the Government is afraid of upsetting 'community' relations.

Effective action against the pushers must be taken, now!

Drug pushers who sell to youngsters are no better than mass murderers, who kill for profit. Capital punishment must be introduced immediately for drug traffickers.

- The police must be made to take more effective action against the pushers. There must be no 'no-go' areas in immigrant communities within our major towns.
- The public must be more vigilant in the fight against the pushers. If you have any information on the dealers, if you know of any pubs or clubs where drugs are being pushed then tell the police. And if they don't take any effective action then get your local National Front to help.

But in the long run we need to do more. We need to rebuild British society to eliminate the social conditions that drive so many kids to drugs. Only the National Front's radical programme of British Nationalism can build the sort of Britain we all want, and our kids deserve.
